(200-word bio)

Stephanie Vee, a Dominican-American singer-songwriter and guitarist (Bronx, NY) is a follower of Jesus that discovered her calling in music at age 11. She expresses her faith through songwriting in both English and Spanish. Her relationship with God has led her to minister through music at various churches and events in the NYC and Boston areas.

She earned her Bachelor's degree in French from Tufts University and studied Vocal Performance at Berklee College of Music.

Stephanie has served as Worship Pastor at Resurrection Life Church NYC and leads worship at churches and events in the NYC and Boston areas. Her EP "8" (2016) embodies her commitment to fostering a deeper connection with God amidst our human imperfection. You can also find Stephanie on YouTube singing original songs and covers about God's love and the intricacies of the human journey.

Throughout the years, God has placed in her heart the desire to help people of different faiths, colors, races, genders, beliefs and lifestyles come together to meet the Living God...the One who transcends all walls and barriers. Along with music and faith, Stephanie is also passionate about advocating for mental and emotional health.
